

presents an “Around the World Through Books” discussion featuring

Let It Rain Coffee

by Angie Cruz

October 29
5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Gallery, Georgiadis Hall (Parham Road Campus)

Hoping to escape the hardships of life in Trujillo's Dominican Republic, Esperanza and Santo Colon immigrate to New York City—where they find that life is not at all like the television series Dallas. Not at all. When, years later, Santo's mother dies and his father, Don Chan, arrives to live with the family, life becomes more complicated still. Don Chan is wise but often confused, Esperanza and Santo struggle with debt, and their children Bobby and Dallas must contend with neighborhood violence, crowded schools, and complexities of love and friendship.

Moderated by Maria Abascal.

The program is a free community event sponsored by the Reynolds Multicultural Enrichment Council. Light refreshments will be served.
